

DAVID BABLITZ

Instructor – Arthur Murray Ottawa

David began dancing with Arthur Murray Coquitlam when he was 20 years old. He had always loved the idea of dancing, and been exposed to small amounts through P.E. classes in grade school, but nothing substantial. After entering the world of Arthur Murray, David fell in love with the creativity and social connection provided through dance. As well, the feeling of moving with music was enchanting and continued to captivate him. Finally, as a student of philosophy, David was amazed at the depth of knowledge and understanding concerning dance possessed by the Arthur Murray professionals. He found learning about the why and how of bodily movement to be a constantly engaging and enlightening pursuit; the thrill of always being able to learn something new through dancing keeps him coming back for more. David spent one year teaching in Coquitlam, before getting married and moving to Ottawa with his wife. Now in Ottawa he hopes to continue learning and growing through dance, and he hopes that he will be able to pass on to others the same benefits of dancing that he found, so they can feel those benefits resonate throughout all aspects of their lives.
